WENT TO BUCKROE

Broad-Street Methodists Were Not De terred-Presbyterians To-Day.

terred—Presbyterians To-Day.

The Broad-Street Methodists went to Buckroe Beach yesterday morning, carrying nine coacies of excursionists or about four hundred persons. Considerable inconvenience was caused in getting to and from the depot with the baskets and boxes of provisions carried by the various family parties and individuals, but generally the situation was accepted with as much philosophy and complacency as could be mustered. The party was quite as numerous, or certainly nearly so, as had been expected.

"Men may walk or men may ride, but the Beach Park excursions run every day at 5:30 P. M. and on Sundays at 9:30 A. M. and 4 P. M.," was Captain C. W. Westbury's greeting when a reporter entered the passenger office of the Southern Railway yesterday and inquired for the news. That was all he knew, he added.

intensely exciting than a race in which contestants are well matched. The contestants are well matched. The form of the greatest men that ever lived.

The contests in the society amateur circus will differ from those in the traveling shows in that they will not be arranged beforehand as to the winners. This will make them much more spirited, as each participant will naturally do his utmost to lead in the mad dash around the race course. One of the events will be a Roman charlot race. The blood must be sluggish indeed that is not fired in witnessing such a sight, displaying as it does the most daring horsemanship and straining to the utmost the nerves of both the charloteer and his steeds.

ington Next Week.

A most enthusiastic meeting of the Richmond alumni of the Virginia Military Institute was held yesterday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce, the object being to discuss the trip to Lexington next week to attend the unveiling of the Ezekiel statue to the cadets of the Institute, who fell in the battle of New Market.

Colonel W. E. Cutshaw was called to the chair and Mr. B. C. Wherry was made secretary of the meeting. Among those present were Colonel Cutshaw, Mr. Wherry, Messrs, J. R. Anderson, J. B. Purcell, O. S. Allen, A. W. Harman, Henry Fairfax, Bev. R. Crump, E. T. Crump, W. P. Upshur, J. B. Cocke, F. W. Jenks, Harry Baker, Captain Joseph Williard, Nelson Noland, A. C. Harman, W. W. Harman, G. L. Todd, Jr., A. P. Carter, Meriwenther Jones, W. A. Chambers and Alex, Harman, Meriwenther Jones, W. A. Chambers and Alex. Harman.

Mr. Joseph R. Anderson gave an interesting account of his efforts to reach the former cadets and urge them to attend this reunion. It is creditable to him to say that he has had much locess. He has received no less than two thousand letters from cadets and expects not less than five or six hundred to be present next Tuesday, It is believed that the number of old students who will be present at this time will equal that of the semi-centennial of 1889.

Those who wish to go on the special pullman car leaving here on Monday night far requested to communicate with Lieutenant-Governor Willard at No. 1111 East Main Street.
